PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a marketing graduate with a B.Com (Hons) from JIMS Kalkaji, building a career focused on digital marketing, content strategy, and brand communication. What defines my journey so far is range. I have worked on the ground in B2B sales at a hardware distribution firm, managed social media and community engagement for college societies, and contributed to SEO and digital content in a healthcare marketing environment. These experiences sit in very different worlds — and that is deliberate. I have always believed that you understand marketing better when you have seen how businesses actually sell, not just how they communicate.

I hold a Google AI Professional Certificate and an NISM MFD certification, and I have been actively learning how AI tools are reshaping content creation and marketing workflows. Certifications aside, my real habit is curiosity — I tend to learn fastest when I am thrown into environments I do not fully understand yet.
